Holding A Husband

BY ADELE GARRISON.

As I obeyed Lillian's abrupt injunction to summon Robert Savarin and Marion from the next room I found myself trembling with excitement. Was it possible that she—

But I had reached the door of the other room, and there was no more time for speculation

Lillian's voice halted me

"Wait a minute," she said imperatively.

I came back to her to find her staring at me steadily.

"There will have to be—certain—formalities—you know. If I go through with this thing," she said and I saw that the thought of again going through the humiliating experience of a divorce court was anguish to her spirit. "Have you any idea where Harry is?—I mean," hastily, "did he say at dinner on that last day we saw him which would give you any idea of his whereabouts?"

"He said," I tried to quote exactly, "he was going to fix the coop for furrin' pets." I did not add the assurance Harry Underwood had given that if ever I needed him he would know it and be on the job. Nor did I include the mention of him by Grace Draper when she had spoken of the people who were watching her in my behalf. That mention had puzzled me, for it had seemed to indicate that Harry Underwood was in New York, instead of being across the water as he had said

A look of relief crossed Lillian's face.

"Then—there will be no way of reaching him for awhile," she said slowly. "Even if I give up I won't have to do anything about it for awhile. Oh, Madge, I am so tired."

The words were not an emotional exclamation, but a quiet, almost mechanical statement, more convincing than any exclamation. I saw that, deeply as Lillian loves Robert Savarin, bound up as she is in her child, the ills of her flesh had so crushed her spirit there was but one thing she craved—rest.

"I won't call you back again," she said after a little, with a faint smile "And get—them—quickly."

She put her head back against her cushions—with an infinitely weary movement, and closed her eyes. I looked at her anxiously as I went to the door, fearing to subject her to the emotional stress which I knew the next few minutes would bring, yet knowing that there was no way in which I could aid her except by obeying her wishes and standing watchfully by, ready for any emergency.

As I opened the door I heard Marion's excited little voice.

"Will she, Uncle Robert? Do you really think she will?"

"I hope so, sweetheart," the man murmured, with his face against hers, and I saw that he had been trying his best to soothe the child whose desire that he should marry her mother and be her "real father" had become an obsession.

I crossed the room and bent to the child's ear.

"Mother isn't very well, Marion," I said softly. "She wants to see you, but whatever she says be very quiet, so as not to disturb her."

The child's eyes widened in alarm, and Robert Savarin's face took on a gray tinge, but neither spoke. Indeed, I did not give them a chance to do so, retracing my steps quickly to Lillian.

"They are here, dear," I said softly, bending over her.

She opened her eyes and looked fixedly at Robert Savarin who with Marion in his arms had just reached her side.

"Give her to me," she said slowly, and when he had placed the child in her lap, Lillian tipped the child's head backward until she looked straight into her eyes.

"Little daughter," she said with infinite tenderness, "there may, probably will, come a time when you will regret that you asked me to do what you have urged me to do, not for my sake—I shall never regret it—but for your own. Will you remember when that time comes that I am consenting now, only because I am afraid of injury to you if I refuse?"

Her voice was strong again, and I saw that the horror which always had been with her—that of subjecting Marion to gossip—was struck upon her. I cast a furtive look at Robert Savarin's face, fearing to see there the shadow of jealousy—for there had been no thought of him in her tense words. But if the cloud were in his spirit he was able to keep it from his face, and there was only loving anxiety with the beginning of a great joy in his eyes as he looked at her.

"I shall never be sorry mother," Marion said, with the air of one making a vow.

"Then, dear, you may have your wish. Kiss Uncle Robert"

The child held out her arms joyfully to Robert Savarin. He embraced her lovingly, carried her tenderly to her couch and drew the coverlet over her. Then, with a face drained of color, but eyes shining, he came back to Lillian, dropped to his knees beside her. I had tried to slip away, but Lillian had put up an insistent hand, and I had stayed

"Ah, Robert." The words were but a whisper, but her radiant smile was something for the man who loves her to keep in his memory as long as life shall last It was complete surrender, and as he gently drew her face to him I saw the ineffable joy of that surrender in her eyes—and I turned my own away that I might not witness that crowning kiss.

"You are giving me life, beloved," I heard Robert Savarin whisper. "I was only dragging out a miserable existence without you—Lillian!"

The last word was an exclamation of fear I turned back to my friend to find her unconscious in his arms. As I frantically summoned the nurse, I wondered with wild anguish if death instead of life was to come to Lillian.

HE EXPECTS TO BREAK WORLD TROTTING RECORD

With Specially-Made Marion Sulky Next Week.

MURPHY WILL DRIVE PETER MANNING THEN

Has Record Now of 1:58 with Uhlan—Gold-Plated Hubs and Spokes.

The McMurray Sulky company, of this city, completed and shipped Wednesday one of the lightest sulkies of the size ever constructed to Thomas W. Murphy, trainer and driver of Peter Manning, joint holder of the world's trotting record with Uhlan, with a mark of 1:58.

In a trial mile hitched to the new sulky Wednesday afternoon, Peter Manning worked out in 1:59. Thomas W. Murphy, the largest money winning driver on the tracks, expects to break the record at Lexington, next week. The sulky was built under special direction and is extraordinary in many respects.

The hubs, spokes and other trimmings are gold plated and the entire weight is but twenty-eight and one-quarter pounds. The wheels are equipped with tires of special make, the pair weighing but one pound and fourteen ounces.

The sulky is finished in Prussian blue and the stripes bring out the colors of the flag, which are the colors of the driver. The company has been three weeks in completing the sulky and local lovers of the harness sport will watch the work of the horse with much interest.

Body of Four-Day-Old Bride Found in Lake; Anchor Tied to Neck.

Mrs. Norah Johnson Kettelle, of Cambridge, Massachusetts, whose body was taken from Lake Mashapaug, Union, Connecticut. Mrs. Kettelle was a bride of four days and was spending her honeymoon with her husband in a bungalow on the shores of the lake. A heavy anchor was tied about the neck of the dead body. The Connecticut police believe they have one of the most startling and mysterious cases in the annals of the criminal history of that state. The dead woman was a former Radcliffe girl, and her husband, John Dunster Kettelle, is a Harvard man.

TWELVE COMPLETE CREWS CALLED IN THREE WEEKS

This Is Due to Increased Business on Erie.

LARGE MOVEMENT OF COAL ON HOCKING

Average Daily Northbound Movement of 1,000 Cars—Tie and Rail Brevities.

The Erie, on account of increased business, has recalled twelve complete train crews in the last three weeks. Of these, two crews were recalled last week and one crew was recalled this week.

Because of the enormous fruit crop along the western coast, there has been a great demand for refrigerator cars in the west. If an adequate supply of this type of car had not been available there would have been great danger of part of the crop spoiling.

The movement of trains northward on the Hocking Valley has shown considerable increase in the past week. Cars of coal going north have numbered about 1,000 a day in the last week. This is an increase of several hundred cars a day.

Word was received in Marion today that Hocking Valley night yard men at Waldbridge have returned to work.

C. E. Booth, road foreman of engines for the Erie, out of Huntington, Indiana, was in Marion, today.

Today is pay-day for Erie employes.

The Erie railroad has signified its intention of installing wig-wag signals at its two principal street crossings, Main and Fontaine, at Kenton, according to word received by City Solicitor Paul T. Mahon, of Kenton.

During September, the Pennsylvania railroad conducted a campaign to eliminate as far as possible the principal causes of claim payments. Records just compiled show that of the total freight claim payments, during the first six months of 1921, in the Central Region, thirteen per cent. were attributable to loss and theft of entire package. Such claims represent a total loss to the railroad, as there is no possible chance of salvage.

This campaign was conducted to impress on the employes the necessity for observing regulations and watching for thefts.

STATE DEPUTY WARDEN PAYS STRIKING TRIBUTE TO NERVE-WORTH

Frank H. Dinsmore, Former Ohio State Deputy Warden Gave This Weighty Statement Recommending Nerv-Worth Some Time Ago.

"While in Columbus some time ago, I tried a sample dose of Nerv-Worth and I then concluded I'd try a bottle when I got home," said Mr. Dinsmore, who lives in Coshocton, Ohio.

"I was tired out and my system was run down, and I thought a tonic like Nerv-Worth would do me good, and I found it brought the answer. I am highly pleased with the results, and cheerfully recommend Nerv-Worth for run down people."

The above is but one of the many statements from people who hold high public offices. Such men do not endorse anything that does not have merit and for that reason their statements offer the most convincing of proof. If you are in a run down or nervous condition, or suffer from stomach troubles, give Nerv-Worth a trial and if it does not help you, your money will be refunded.

You will finally come to Nerv-Worth for satisfactory results, so why not start now? Be sure to get the genuine in the large round bottle. Price $1.00 plus tax. Sold by Schmidt & Co. and all leading druggists everywhere.—Adv

AUDIT SHOWS SOLVENCY OF ERIE TIRE COMPANY

In Which Are Many Local Stockholders.

RECEIVER SAYS ASSETS HIGH OVER LIABILITISE

They Will Run $800,000 in Excess, Receiver H. R. Greenlee Says.

Numerous Marion county shareholders in the Erie Tire & Rubber company, of Sandusky, will be interested in an authorized statement to the effect that a complete audit of the affairs of the company from its inception to June 30, 1921, tending to show absolutely the solvency of te company, was filed in United States court at Toledo Wednesday afternoon. It is the receiver's contention that assets are in excess of liabilities in the sum of approximately $800,000.

The report of the receiver includes the complete audit of the company's affairs taken by C. H. William Ruhe, accountant and engineer, of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. It was a voluminous file of many typewritten pages.

Receiver H. R. Greenlee represents to the court that in accordance with the audit, total assets amount to $4,334,392.34, of which the receiver has taken over as valuable assets $2,473,393.25 and as against which the audit shows as liabilities, including amounts due on capital stock, $4,334,392.34, total amount considered by the receiver as probable liability $4,328,391.94.

Receiver Greenlee represents that the audit shows that disregarding as assets the contingent liability of stock bonus in the sum of $1,023,-980.67 and further disregarding as collectable assets, stock subscriptions due from stockholders in the sum of $750,650.30 and $127,823.66, or a total of $278,404.02, there still remains in his hands as assets of the company represented by what he considered collectable accounts, fixed assets, raw material and other items, as shown by the audit, the sum of $1,165,002.57. As against this, the audit shows liabilities, not considering outstanding stock as a liability the sum of $379,780.67, leaving an excess of assets in the receiver's hands, over liabilities of $785,221.90.

Receiver Greenlee, in his report says that the total claims to this date filed against the company are in the sum of $628,045.29 as against $379,780.67 shown by the audit and the books of the company.

BASEBALL

To Pay Tribute.

New York Sept 30.—New York's baseball fandom today was to pay tribute to one of its greatest idols, Christy Mathewson, more affectionately known as "Big Six."

The entire gate receipts of the New York-Boston game will be given to the famous pitcher, who for more than a year has been battling for his life at Saranac Lake, New York. He has been ill with tuberculosis.

Early indications were the Polo grounds would be jammed to the gates. All reserved seats have been sold.

As an added feature, baseball stars of other days will don uniforms again and stage a short exhibition game before the regular game. Larry Doyle, Manager John McGraw himself, Red Murray, "Hooks" Wilts, Art Devlin, Jeff Tesreau the famous Amos Rusie, Dan Brouthers, Roger Bresnahan and Mike Donlin are some of the oldtimers who will perform.

Tagging the Bases.

Little Dick Kerr smoothed out the path for the Yanks when he sent out the Cleveland Indians at Chicago, allowing but six hits.

Bob Shawkey, though not in the best of shape, gladly accepted the assignment of beating the Athletics.

The Cardinals took both ends of a double-header with Pittsburgh and put Gibson's lads out of the National league race.

Walter Johnson was slammed hard in the sixth inning by the Red Sox and Washington took a beating

VEIOCK ON SPORTS

Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—Miller Huggins' Yankees were within a game of the American league pennant when they rose from their "downers" today.

One more victory will insure the Yanks of entry into the World's series with the Giants who were shoved into the National league championship Thursday, by the St. Louis Cardinals.

It does not matter whether the Yanks win or the Indians lose, but as soon as either evidently is accomplished, New York will have a corner on the World's series.

The Yanks are serious about this pennant winning thing. They realize that they are on the threshold of an accomplishment that New York American league clubowners have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars to achieve and they were prepared to go into today's game with chips on both shoulders.

Carl Mays, the stalwart ace of the Yankee pitching staff, was expected to take the mound against the Athletics, with Hasty or Remmel opposing him. Mays is the one best bet Miller Huggins can boast of and if he pitches up to standard the Yanks will have their first American league pennant securely nailed to the flagpole by sundown.

"Babe" Ruth who was kept in bed by his physician yesterday, thanks

"The Scandal"

AN EXQUISITE EFFECT

It would seem untrue that one style in particular should have the ability, in loveliness and delicacy, to out-step any or many of the little models designed and made by I. Miller.

However, the patent sandal sketched is a successful captain. It has an odd and artistic forepart, three graceful straps and dainty perforations. Something to be seen and thought about.

'TWILL DOUBLE CAPACITY OF SCIOTO POWER PLANT

Second Turbo-Generator Is Purchased.

UNIT AUXILIARY SOON WILL BE INSTALLED

Practically a Duplicate of the Generator Now in Service at the Mammoth Plant.

Arrangements have been made for the installation, within a year time of a second unit at the new plant of the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric company at Scioto that will double the capacity of the plant and insure against interruptions in service on account of possible breakdowns. The new unit will cost approximately $100,000.

A. F. VanDelinde, general manager of the company, recently returned from Providence, Rhode Island, where he completed the deal for the purchase of the new unit a 7,500-kilovolt ampere turbo-generator and its equipment.

This new unit practically is a duplicate of the generator now in service at the plant and when it is put in operation will double the amount of electrical energy generated at the Scioto power station.

When the plant was constructed, sufficient boilers, space and foundations were provided for two large turbo-generators, but only one was installed at the time the plant was built. The generator was placed in operation in June and has been furnishing electricity continuously for commercial lighting and street cars in Marion and the interurban line.

JOSHUA B. BAUGHMAN IS STRICKEN IN MOTOR CAR

When Driving to Logan County Fair—Aged Ninety.

Joshua B. Baughman, ninety years of age in January, who has never really been ill in his life, suffered a stroke of paralysis on the left side yesterday while enroute with his son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Baughman, No. 342 west Center street, to the Logan county fair.

Just before the party reached Belle Center they ate a light lunch and Mr. Baughman ate some sandwiches. As they drove into the city Mrs. Baughman, who was sitting in the front seat with her husband, happened to look back and saw the aged man lying on the seat. He never lost consciousness.

Mr. Baughman was taken to the home of a nephew, George Campbell, and a physician called. He was brought home last night on a cot in the train.

Mr. Baughman was very active for his age and it was his desire that he attend the Logan county fair, where he hoped to see many of his old friends, he having formerly lived at DeGraff. Owing to his age his condition is very serious.

ALBRECHTS WILL MOVE TO MARION FROM GALION

Galion Residence Sold and Grocery To Be Transferred.

C. Albrecht has sold his home, 828 south Market street, to A. L. Green and the household goods of Mr. and Mrs. Albrecht have been shipped to Marion, their future home, says Thursday's Galion Inquirer. Mr. and Mrs. Green have moved into their purchase which they expect to occupy permanently as a residence.

It is expected that Mr. Albrecht will dispose of his grocery store on west Parson street in the immediate future, possibly some time tomorrow, and as soon as this is accomplished the Albrechts will take up their permanent residence in Marion. A handsome bungalow has been erected by Albrecht on Cleveland avenue in Marion, and the goods of the Galion home have already been installed in this new home which is just opposite the home of Harry Albrecht, the son, who has been a resident of Galion for some years.

Mr. Albrecht has been a resident of Galion for nearly forty years and during the greater part of this period he has been identified with the city's business interests. For about fifteen years he has successfully conducted a grocery on west Parson street. Many friends sincerely regret that Mr. and Mrs. Albrecht are about to leave Galion, but wish them abundant success in their new home.

The successor to the Albrecht grocery has not yet been definitely announced.

MAYOR RELEASES AGED MAN WHO MAKES BOOZE

But Who Makes It for Himself and Nobody Else.

PETER MADONIA IS NOT SO FORTUNATE, HOWEVER

Suit of Clothes Stolen Out of the Room of Clarence Virden. Police News.

P. L. Roth, aged seventy-three years of Commercial street, arrested Thursday morning when the police visited his home and found a crude still of less than one gallon capacity, was arraigned before Mayor T. E. Andrews, Thursday evening, to answer a charge of illegally manufacturing intoxicating liquors. Roth entered a plea of guilty to the charge and the mayor reserved his decision pending investigation.

After an investigation the mayor learned that Roth was making some kind of intoxicant through the still, but that it was not real corn liquor. It was also learned that Roth was making it for his personal use and had never attempted selling it as the most he turned out in a few days was about a half pint. On account of these facts and the age and reputation of the man, the mayor let him off with a fine of $500 and suspended the fine on his promise not to continue making the stuff.

Peter Madonia, arrested September 12 on a charge of illegally possessing intoxicating liquors after a search at his home by the police and the finding of a quantity of corn whisky, was given a hearing in the mayor's court, Thursday afternoon.

The defendant was represented by Justice, Young & Mouser and the prosecution was conducted by City Solicitor George T. Geran. After hearing the testimony of the witnesses, the mayor found Madonia guilty as charged in the indictment. The counsel for the defendant gave notice of filing a motion for a new trial and sentence was deferred by the mayor.

HUGH DIAMOND DRIVES DULL CARE FAR AWAY

Experience on Erie Train Recently Proves It.

A lot of folks who have heard Hughie Diamond, the Scotch entertainer from Galion, who has been in Kent several times, have often been heard to express a wonder if he ever run down says the Kent Tribune. The test came the other day.

It was Thursday. The Erie had a wreck west of Burbank. Train 15, the afternoon local west from Kent to Marion, was held up. They thought it might be an hour or two. It turned out to be seven. Diamond had been at Akron as the speaker at a noon luncheon and was on the train enroute back to Galion. He and the other passengers stood it for an hour, then when they began to get uneasy Hughie told them a story. They laughed. Then he sang a song. They yelled for more. generous Hughie responded. Once he got a good start it was easy. The coach loads gathered around him, urging him on. Boys from the village brought sandwiches and coffee and the crowd ate while they listened. And the Erie men who pulled 15 that day will vouch for it that the silver-tongued Scotchman from Galion went six hours continuous. The crowd forgot the delay and they seemed sorry when the signal came to go, putting an end to the entertainment. Hughie expressed his regrets, too. He said he was just getting warmed up.

Dr. Mildred W. Dickerson, formerly of this city, who has been associated with Dr. Eugene H. Hall, of Columbus, for the past year will leave Columbus October 1 to associate himself with Dr. Clyde M. Gearhart, of Washington, D. C.

Jesse C. Sipe, of Elk avenue, was arrested Thursday afternoon by Constable J. F. Crissinger on a charge of non-support preferred by his wife, Alice Sipe. He was placed in jail for a hearing this afternoon in Justice G. Farr Larle's court.

Hinman Heads Publishing Company.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Election of George W. Hinman to be president of the Illinois Publishing and Printing company, publishers of the Chicago Herald and Examiner, was announced. He succeeds Ray D. Keeler, resigned. Hinman formerly was president of Marietta (O.) college.

CHAPTER XVII.

If Which One Is the Hero.

It morning found most of the hut sleeping quarters which they had shared with their captors. They were moored as before to a palm tree, by a rope having a play of two or three feet, and their hands unbound while they made a hasty breakfast under the eye of a watchful sentinel. Then their wrists were tied again, not painfully, but with a firmness which made any slipping of their bonds impossible.

While the pirates were breakfasting a spirited dispute took place among them as to who should go to the treasure cave and who stay in camp to guard the prisoners. Slinker and Horny urged with justice that, as they had missed all the excitement of the preceding day, it was their turn to visit the cave. The right to see the Bones they passionately claimed. Tony supported them, and it ended with Chris and Captain Magnus being told off as our guards for the morning.

In leaving the cabin I had slipped into my blouse a small penknife which I had found in Aunt Jane's bag. It was quite new, and I satisfied myself that the blades were keen. My own large sheath-knife and my revolver I had been deprived of at the suggestion of the thoughtful Magnus. I had surrendered them unprotestingly, fearful of all things that my possessions might be ransacked and Peter's diary though hidden with much art at the bottom of the bag, be brought to light. For I might yet sell the secret of the Island Queen at a price which should redeem us all.

As the heat increased a voice of lamentation broke from Chris. He was dry—dry enough to drink up the condemned ocean. No, he didn't want spring water, which Cookie obsequiously tendered him; he wanted a drink—wouldn't anybody but a fool nigger know that? There was plenty of the real stuff aboard the schooner, on the other side of the—adjective—island. Why had they, with incredible lack of forethought, brought along nothing but their pocket flasks? Why hadn't they sent the adjective nigger back for more? Where was the bottle or two that had been rooted out last night from the medical stores? Empty? Every last drop gone down somebody's greedy gullet? The adjectives came thick and fast as Chris hurled the bottle into the bay, where it swam bobbingly upon the ripples. Captain Magnus agreed with the gist of Chris' remarks, but deprecated, in a truly philosophical spirit, their unprofitable heat. There wasn't any liquor, so what was the good of making an adjective row? Hadn't he endured the equivalent of Chris' present sufferings for weeks? He was biding his time, he was. Plenty of drink by and by, plenty of all that makes life soft and easy. He bet there wouldn't many hit any higher spots than him. He bet there was one little girl that would be looked on as lucky, in case she was a good little girl and encouraged him to show his natural kindness. And I was favored with a blood-curdling leer from across the camp, of which I had put as much as possible between myself and the object of my dread.

But now, like a huge black Ganymede, appeared Cookie, bearing cups and a large stone crock.

"It suhtinly am a fact, Mistah Chris, sah," said Cookie, "dat dey is a mighty unspirituous fluidity 'bout dis yere spring watah. Down wah I is come from no pussons of de Four Hund'ed ain't even 'customed to partake of such. But the sassiety I has been in lately round dis yere camp ain't of de convivulous ordah; ole Cookie had to keep it dark dat he got his li'le drop o' comfort on de side. Dis yere's only home-made stuff, sah. 'Tain't what I could offah to a gemmelmun if so be I is got the makin's of a genuwine old-style julep what is de beverage of de fust fam'lies. But bein' as it is, it am mighty coolin', sah, and it got a li'le kick to it—not much, but jes' enough to make a gemmelmun feel lak he is one."

Cookie's tones dripped humility and propitiation. He offered the brimming cup cringingly to the pale-eyed, red-nosed Chris, who reached for it with alacrity, drank deep, smacked his lips meditatively, and after a moment passed the cup back.

"'Tain't so worse," he said approvingly. "Anyhow, it's drink!"

Magnus suddenly began to laugh.

"S'help me, it's the same dope what laid out the Honorable!" he chortled. "Here, darky, let's have a swig of it!"

Cookie complied, joining respectfully in the captain's mirth.

"I guess you-all is got stronger haids den dat young gemmelmun!" he remarked. "Dis yere ole niggah has help hisself mighty freely and dat prohibitionist Miss Harding ain't even found it out. Fac' is, it am purfeckly harmless 'cept when de haid is weak."

False, false Cookie! Black brother in perfidy to Mr. Tubbs! One friend the less to be depended on if a chance for freedom ever came to us!

Cookie refilled the pirates' cups, and set the crock beside them on the ground.

"In case you gemmelmun feels yo'selfs a li'le thirsty later on," he remarked. He was retiring, when Captain Magnus called to him.

"Here, this ain't bad. It's coolin', but it's a real nice ladylike sort of drink. I should say. Suppose you take a swig over to Miss Jinny there with my compliments—I'm one to always treat a lady generous if she gives me half a chance."

Obediently Cookie hastened for another cup, set it on a tray, and approached me with his old-time ornate manner. I faced him with a withering look, but, unmindful, he bowed, presenting me the cup, and interposing his bulky person between me and the deeply quaffing pirates. At the same time his voice reached me, pitched in a low and anxious key.

"Fo' de Lawd's sake, Miss Jinny, spill it out! It am mighty powerful dope—it done fumented twice as long as befo'—it am boun' to give dat trash de blind-staggahs sho'ly!"

Instantly I understood, and a thrill of relief and of hope inexpressible shot through me. I put the cup to my lips and after a brief parade of drinking passed it back to Cookie, spilling the contents on the ground en route.

Gradually the rough disjointed talk of the sailors began to languish. Covertly watching, I saw that Chris' head had begun to droop. The hand that held the cup was lifted, stretched out in the direction of the enticing jar, then forgetting its errand fell heavily. After a few spasmodic twitchings of the eyelids and uneasy grunts, Chris slumbered.

Captain Magnus was of tougher fiber. But he, too, grew silent and there was a certain meal-sack limpness about his attitude. His dulled eyes stared dreamily. All at once, with a jerk, he roused himself, turned over and administered to the sleeping Chris a prod with his large boot.

"Hey, there, wake up! What right you got to be asleep at the switch?" But Chris only breathed more heavily.

Captain Magnus himself heaved a tremendous yawn, settled back in greater comfort against his sustaining tree and closed his eyes. I waited, counting the seconds by the beating of the blood in my ears. In the background Cookie hovered apprehensively. Plainly he would go on hovering unless loud snores from the pirates gave him assurance. For myself, I sat fingering my penknife, wondering whether I ought to rush over and plunge it into the sleepers' throats. This would be heroic and practical, but unpleasant. If, on the other hand, I merely tried to free the prisoners and Captain Magnus woke, what then? The palm where they were tied was a dozen yards from me, much nearer to the guards, and within range of even their most languid glance. Beyond the prisoners was Miss Browne, glaring uncomprehendingly over the edge of her book. There was no help in Miss Browne.

I left my seat and stole on feet which seemed to stir every leaf and twig to loud complaint toward the captive pair. Tense, motionless, with burning eyes, they waited. There was a movement from Captain Magnus; he yawned, turned and muttered. I stood stricken, my heart beating with loud thumps against my ribs. But the captain's eyes remained closed.

"Virginia—quick, Virginia!" Dugald Shaw was stretching out his bound hands to me, and I had dropped on my knees before him and begun to cut at the knotted cords. They were tough strong cords, and I was hacking at them feverishly when something bounded across the clearing and flung itself upon me. Crusoe, of course!—and wild with the joy of reunion. I strangled a cry of dismay, and with one hand tried to thrust him off while I cut through the rope with the other.

"Down, Crusoe!" I kept desperately whispering. But Crusoe was unused to whispered orders. He kept bounding up on me, intent to fulfill an unachieved ambition of licking my ear. Cuthbert Vane tried, under his breath, to lure him away. But Crusoe's emotions were all for me, and swiftly becoming incontrollable they burst forth in a volley of shrill yelps.

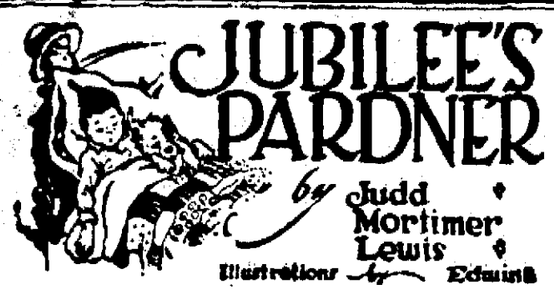
A loud cry answered them. It came from Captain Magnus, who had scrambled to his feet and was staggering across the clearing. One hand was groping at his belt—it was flourished in the air with the gleam of a knife in it—and staggering and shouting the captain came on.

"Ah, you would, would you? I'll teach you—but first I'll settle him, the porridge-eatin' Scotch swine—"

The reeling figure with the knife was right above me. I sprang up, in my hand the little two-inch weapon which was all I had for my defense—and Dugald Shaw's. There were loud noises in my ears, the shouting of men, and a shrill continuous note which I have since realized came from the lungs of Miss Higglesby-Browne. Magnus made a lunge forward—the arm with the knife descended. I caught it—wrenched at it frantically—striving blindly to wield my little penknife, whether or not with deadly intent I don't know to this day. He turned on me savagely, and the penknife was whirled from my hand as he caught my wrist in a terrible clutch.

All I remember after that is the terrible steely grip of the captain's arms and a face, flushed, wild-eyed, horrible, that was close to mine and inevitably coming closer, though I fought and tore at it—of hot feverish lips whose touch I knew would scorch me to the soul—and then I was suddenly free, and falling, falling, a long way through darkness.

[To Be Continued.]



No more school except Sunday-school till Monday. I think I can stand it. I stood it pretty good all summer. When we was over at the vacant lot we went over and set on Miss Parmer's fence and she gave us each an apple because she did not have any cookies, and when she got to Stringy she said, "Why, this is a new little boy, isn't it?" and he took off his hat and said, "No mom, I am not new. My folks has had me ever since I can remember." And she laughed and said, "Indeed. How nice and tall you are." And then I butted in and told her his mother had three brothers 18 feet and three inches tall," and she said, "Thomas! Thomas! Thomas!" and then I told her how it was and she thought that was a pretty good joke on her, and we all thought so, too.

He reached out his left hand and took hold of Eric's face and squoze it like it was a lemon.

When we were going to the pasture I got hold of our cow's tail and Stringy got hold of her doter's and Peanuts got hold of his cow's and Johnny Griswold got hold of his, and the dogs barked and the other fellas tried to keep up, and Stringy went the fastest because his cow was the youngest and his legs was the longest. When we was coming back Eric the preacher's son took an apple out of his shirt and was just going to take a bite when Stringy reached over his shoulder and took it out of his hand and took a bite and handed it back to him, and he was so mad that before he knew what he was doing he hauled off and gave Stringy such a slap on the face it made his brains rattle, and we all stopped and looked at them because we was wondering if Stringy would stand for that, and he reached out with his left hand and took hold of Eric's face and squoze it like it was a lemon and Eric couldn't even get his mouth open to holler and his arms was not long enough to reach Stringy with, and Stringy took the whole apple away from him and gave him a slap in the mouth, and Eric went off bellering and said he was going to tell his father, and Stringy would see what he would get.

I guess I will start stretching my arms and training for my reach again. Mebby Stringy will think he can lick me some time and when he does I have got to be ready for him. We went to the stink factory after school and he took a limber stick and made a snare for a rat by its hole, and we went outside and peeked through the crack and pretty soon a rat stuck its head out of the hole and the stick jerked him up in the air so quick he didn't know what done it. When we brung the rat out what Jubilee done to it was a plenty. Eric's father did not show up at the school, but Eric told Missus Deglun, so then Stringy showed her his face where it was slapped and she said she had nothing to do with what happened outside of school. Nobody likes Eric.

GARIS' BEDTIME STORIES

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BIG TRAP.

[BY HOWARD R. GARIS.]

[Copyright 1921, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.]

Hopping through the woods one day, Uncle Wiggily heard a voice behind a sassafras bush saying:

"We must be careful! Very careful!"

The bunny rabbit gentleman stopped and twinkled his pink nose. It was the fall of the year, the leaves were beginning to turn into crimson and gold and drop from the trees. It was the time of hunter men with their guns.

"Perhaps that a hunter man speaking," thought Uncle Wiggily. "Though, to be sure, it did not sound like one. Or it may be the Bushy Bear or the Woozie Wolf saying they must be careful not to let me know they are around, so they can sneak up and catch me. I must be careful myself!"

And Uncle Wiggily was careful. He looked this way and that and peered over the top of the sassafras bush. And how glad he was when he saw only Sammie and Susie Littletail, his rabbit nephew and niece.

"What's the matter, Sammie?" asked the bunny gentleman. "What is it you and Susie must be careful of?"

"A trap!" answered Sousie, trying to make her little pink nose twinkle like Uncle Wiggily's big one. "A great, big trap!"

"And we almost stepped in it," added Sammie, nibbling a bit of carrot he found in his pocket.

"A trap, eh?" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "I should say you ought to be careful! Where it is? Take me to it and maybe I can spring it shut by throwing stones at it, so it will catch none of us animals."

Sammie and Susie led the way through the forest until they reached a little dingly dell carpeted with soft, green moss.

"There's the trap!" said Sammie, pointing with one paw. "And Johnnie and Billie Bushytail are there looking at it!"

Surely enough, the squirrel boys were sitting on the ground not far away from something big and round and yellow.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" chattered Johnnie, as the bunny hopped up with Sammie and Susie. "You want to be careful! It's a trap!"

"Yes, Sammie and Susie told me about it," spoke Mr. Longears. "Now all you children keep back and I'll throw stones at it. Maybe I can break it or spring it shut, before any one gets caught."

So Uncle Wiggily threw stones at the big round thing. But the stones only went "Thump! Thud!" and nothing happened.

"This is a different trap from any I have ever seen," said the bunny gentleman. "I wonder who set it?"

Just then they all heard a rustling in the bushes, and the animal folk turned quickly, thinking it might be a hunter man. But it was only Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boys.

"Oh, look out for the trap!" they barked.

"Oh, look out for the trap!" they barked. "Look out!"

"We are looking out," said Uncle Wiggily, as he threw more stones.

But the stones only went "Thumpity thump!" and the trap, as the animals thought it was, never moved.

"My! My!" said Uncle Wiggily. "This is dangerous! If I leave this trap here it may catch my nice muskrat lady housekeeper, Nurse Jane, or some of the animal boys and girls. What shall we do?"

"Maybe if we barked at it something would happen," growled Jackie.

"Let's do it!" whined his brother.

So the puppy dogs barked: "Wow! Bow! Wow! Whiff! Wuff!"

But the trap never said a word.

Uncle Wiggily was getting ready to go for a policeman dog, to have him take the trap away, when, all at once, there was another rustling in the bushes. The bunny and all his friends started to run away, but they stopped in time to see Jollie and Jillie Longtail, the mouse boy and girl, crawling through the bush.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed Jollie and Jillie.

"Hush! Be careful!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Look out for the big, round, yellow trap!"

"Trap! That isn't a trap!" squealed Jollie. "That's a big, round, yellow cheese some one has dropped. We will gnaw a piece off for each of you!"

"Cheese!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Cheese!" said Jollie and Jillie. And cheese it was. Not a trap at all! And, oh, how glad every one was.

The mouse children liked cheese better than any of the others, but they all ate some, after Jollie and Jillie had gnawed off slices, and every one had a good time.

"Well, it was almost an adventure, anyhow!" said the bunny rabbit that night as Nurse Jane toasted some of the chees with carrots for his supper.

Thirty couples enjoyed a dance given by the Owls in the Red Men's hall on south Main street, Wednesday night. Music was furnished by Hussard's orchestra. Another dance will be given in two weeks.

Baby's Sore Chafed Skin

The Cause of Untold Misery Nurse Tells How to Avoid It

Philadelphia, Pa. "Sykes Comfort Powder has been used on this little boy with great success in keeping his skin free from chafing, scalding, rashes and soreness, which is the cause of so much misery among children. In my eleven years work as a nurse I have never found anything to equal Sykes Comfort Powder for this purpose."—Lottie E. Sloper, Nurse, 4011 Pine St., Philadelphia, Pa.

The reason Sykes Comfort Powder is so successful in healing and preventing chafing, scalding, rashes and skin irritations is because it contains six healing, antiseptic ingredients not found in ordinary talcums. Physicians and nurses call it "all-healing Wonder."

Tanlac Accomplishes Remarkable Results In Geo. H. Nickels Case

Prominent Wisconsin Man Says Tanlac Promptly Relieved Him of Bad Case of Stomach Trouble of Six Months' Standing—Gains 27 Pounds and Feels Fine as a Fiddle.

GEORGE H. NICKELS.

It is an unquestionable fact that Tanlac is now being more widely endorsed by well known men and women than any other medicine on the American market. One of the latest to testify is George H. Nickels, well known lecturer, residing at 227 Wells St., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

"Tanlac has not only completely restored my health, but I have actually gained 27 pounds in weight," said Mr. Nickels in referring to the remarkable benefits he had derived from the medicine.

"For something over six months, my stomach was very badly disordered, I suffered terribly from indigestion and Dyspepsia. At times I would be in great distress and I would invariably experience an uncomfortable bloated feeling for hours after eating. I had no appetite scarcely and the little I ate would often make me deathly sick. My head ached until I felt like it would burst and I was so nervous I trembled like a leaf. When I got up in the mornings, I was so weak and dizzy, I couldn't trust myself to walk around and I just hurt all over.

"Tanlac has brought about a wonderful change in my condition for I am now enjoying the very best of health. My appetite is splendid, I relish my meals. Everything agrees with me perfectly. The nervousness, headaches and dizzy spells are all gone and I never have an ache or pain. I am only too glad to tell others about the wonderful good Tanlac has done. It has no equal."

Tanlac is sold in Marion by The Dumble Pharmacy, and by leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

If we get the contention of the Pennsylvania correctly, it holds that, as an interpreter of the law, the supreme court is a higher tribunal than the railroad labor board.

A lot of suggestions on how to rehabilitate the church have been offered, but, strange to say, the plan of preaching the old-fashioned religion and living the old-fashioned Christian life doesn't figure among them to such an extent that you can notice it.

According to a legislative review, 5,368 laws have been enacted during the past year in fifteen states. And yet we are not permitted to plead ignorance of the law.

If the proposal to spend $30,000 on the study of the grasshopper is a really serious one, why wouldn't it be a great saving of time and money to interview just about any Kansan and learn at one fell swoop all there is to be known on the subject?

We note that the North Dakota Non-Partisan league has asked John Skelton Williams to come to its assistance. It's impossible longer to question the report that the league is in a bad way.

Let us hope that the members of the unemployment conference will devote their attention to getting a wage for all rather than to applying it to figuring on either boosting or lowering the wages of any. In the second course lies all kinds of trouble.

It's something of a shock to read that the "latest ground for divorce" in the home of the Ohio State Journal paragrapher is the "detection of the defendant in act of making fried-ham, fried-egg sandwich at luncheon table" when up here in the heart of the garden spot of the world fried ham and egg sandwiches individually made at table is considered the thing at recherche Sunday luncheons

NORTH DAKOTA RETURNING TO SANITY.

It is evident that a considerable proportion, if not a majority, of the voters of North Dakota has grown weary of the process of bankrupting the state which has been carried on by the Non-Partisan league. A recall election for the governor, attorney general and the commissioner of agriculture and labor has been ordered for October 28. To end the mismanagement and restore the state to a position of credit is the purpose of the present movement.

However, it is not proposed to abandon all the enterprises in which the state has invested money, if the coalition is successful in the election. The state projects on which millions have been expended will be given under careful management a chance to survive, if survival is possible. The movement is at least a step toward the return to sanity in commercial affairs. And in the hands of sagacious men there is no reason why North Dakota should not regain

Sketches from Life — By Temple

Now It's the Boss' Turn

THRIFT MUST BE REWARDED.

Eighty-seven years young, Chauncey M Depew not only takes an active interest in current public issues, but speaks with his characteristic vigor and interest. "For the first time," he says, 'operative Socialism has been given a thorough trial by the Bolshevists of Russia and the disastrous results have proved that the old order of civilization may not be changed without such a catastrophe as has overtaken Russia A country can not abandon religion, property rights and liberty of thought, speech and action without committing itself to a reign of famine, industrial stagnation and utter collapse of government."

We do not understand by this that Mr. Depew believes no changes in the old order possible without disaster, but, rather, that the changes must be brought about gradually as experience demonstrates new methods to be better than the old, whereupon the new will be adopted by common consent—an evolution and not a revolution.

There has been and can be no change in the fundamentals mentioned by Mr Depew without destruction Personal liberty and property rights can not be forcibly overthrown without killing individual initiative and enterprise and destroying every incentive to thrift. Famine followed the action of the Bolsheviks of Russia in depriving the Russian farmers of the crops they had produced. When merchants, manufacturers, bankers and men of all legitimate occupations found their savings confiscated, they naturally ceased any effort further than necessary to get food and shelter for the day. Famine was inevitable

The Bolshevik spirit is abroad in America Some of the American Bolshevists would resort to violence just as was practiced in Russia. A greater number however, would revolutionize our governmental system so that it would seize through the forms of law the savings of the more thrifty portion of our population. They would penalize industry and thrift and yet expect industry and thrift to go on producing and saving only to be robbed again

Such a policy can not succeed in America under the forms of law any more than it can succeed in Russia under the rule of lawless force The chief duty of government is to protect its people in the enjoyment of equal opportunity, assuring to each the legitimate results of his ability, efforts and thrift.

Secretary of War Weeks may have figured that if General Pershing selected Colonel Patrick for chief of the air forces over in France in time of war the colonel should make a mighty good air chief in time of peace

GERMANY, OUR THIRD CUSTOMER

Germany has become the third best customer of the United States According to official figures our exports to that country in the first seven months of the present calendar year amounted to a little more than $[illegible],000,000 in value This was exceeded only by the $582,000,000 we shipped to the United Kingdom and the $348,000,000 purchased by Canada The net trade balance in favor of the United States on our business with Germany was $[illegible],000,000 In other words, our producers have a credit in that sum on the business transacted during the seven months with Germany

Because of the further decline in the exchange value of the German mark, it becomes an interesting question how and where that credit is being liquidated Violent fluctuations in the value of foreign exchange greatly increase the difficulty and cost of doing business with our third best foreign customer, and one can understand the efforts in banking and commercial circles to overcome some of the German financial situation At the present time the depreciation in the value of the German mark is about ninety per cent It therefore has a very little before it reaches zero Then what [illegible]?

LIFE'S VAUDEVILLE.

POKING FUN AT ATTORNEYS.

Attorneys are of many kinds.
The modest and the pompous
The stout and strong, the lean and long—
And those cut catawampus;
The ones who have no special art,
And yet who feel their fitness
To bluff and brag and bullyrag
The unoffending witness

Attorneys are all right, of course,
But still it doesn't vex us
To see a witness land a blow
Right on one's solar plexus
To hear him give a startled gasp
Is pleasing to our spirit;
We smile—we grin like very sin,
So glad we are to hear it

Yes, all of us like to see the witness get the better of the badgering lawyer It's such a good joke on the lawyer, and we appreciate the joke muchly—even if the lawyer doesn't. In fact, we appreciate the joke most when the lawyer doesn't. So all of us should enjoy this little tale from the Kansas City Star

Mr Bully was cross-examining a downtrodden witness

"Now, sir," he thundered, "you have stated under oath that this man had the appearance of a gentleman Please tell the jury how a gentleman looks—in your estimation"

"Well—er—a gentleman looks like er—a—er" —stammered the confused witness.

"I don't want any of your 'ers'—and remember you are on oath! Can you see anybody in the court who looks like a gentleman?

The witness eyes for the first time showed anger, and he flared out:

"Stand out of the way—and then perhaps I can You're not transparent!"

By way of good measure, here's another yarn poking fun at the legal profession—and from a law journal, Case and Comment

There was a prominent lawyer in San Francisco who prided himself on his astuteness in questioning Chinese witnesses He was very near-sighted, however, and on one occasion got into difficulty through failing to notice that the dress of a certain Chinese witness was of finer texture than that worn by the ordinary coolie. The following dialogue ensued

"What is your name?"

"Sell Lung"

"Do you live in San Francisco?"

"Do you savvy God?"

"Mr. Attorney, if you mean to ask whether I comprehend the nature of our Creator, I will merely reply that on next Thursday evening I shall address the State Ministerial association upon the subject of 'The Divinity of Christ,' and I shall be pelased if you will attend."

To the day of his death that lawyer will have dinned into his ears "You savvy God?"

00, 00, HOLD A BIG PARTY FOR TINY ONES AT CHURCH

Epworth Church Scene of Unusual Affair Thursday.

ABOUT 100 CHILDREN ARE IN ATTENDANCE

Program Is Rendered—Party Given by Cradle Roll Department—First.

Golden haired babies, babies with raven locks, babies with auburn tresses, babies with lots of hair and babies with none, blue-eyed babies and babies with dark eyes—pretty, every one of them—were brought by their names to the cradle roll party at the Epworth M. E. church Tuesday afternoon. The party was the first of its kind ever given at Epworth church and was a big success, about seventy-five mothers and perhaps 100 children—ranging from any age up to three years being there.

The kiddies couldn't come by themselves so they brought their names along and while the elders were being entertained with a splendid program, the babes entertained themselves by laughing and jabbering and occasionally, one would pucker up his little lips and start to cry because he couldn't make out what it was all about. But, taking all in all, they were all well-behaved youngsters and their proud mamas let them jabber to their hearts content, while they enjoyed the music and speaking.

Program Is Opened.

Miss Maye Lawrence opened the program with two piano numbers, after which Dr. Jesse Swank spoke for a few minutes. Mrs. T. J. Mills superintendent of the cradle-roll of Epworth, which has 320 babies enrolled in that department, gave a talk, encouraging mothers to enroll their babies soon after birth. Mrs. H. R. Waddell, superintendent of the beginners' department, then spoke of how the beginners' department receives those from the cradle roll.

Mrs. C. L. Rutherford, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Ray Anthony Hess, sang a group of baby songs and Mrs. Eugene Thomas gave an appropriate reading. Mrs. Della Sampsell also gave a reading and Mrs. O. I. Clevenger entertained with an original story and then gathered the youngsters about her and told them a child's story.

Attractive Decorations.

The church parlor had been attractively decorated with wicker furniture and floor lamp to give it a home-like appearance and, adding to its attractiveness, were baskets of fall bloom, which friends had brought in from their gardens. The guests were received by Mrs. Mills and Mrs. Jesse Swank. After the music and program Mrs. Mills was assisted in serving by the teachers of the primary department. The women served buffet style, those presiding at the table being Mrs. H. E. Henderson, Mrs. H. R. Waddell and Mrs. John H. Clark.

MEMORIAL TO HUSBAND IS TO BE ERECTED IN INDIANA

By Mrs. J. L. Hoover, of Marion. Park Shelter House.

A special dispatch from Hartford City, Indiana, in Thursday's Press, Muncie, Indiana, says:

"C. T. Ruble, of this city, has the lowest bid on the shelter house which is to be erected at Hoover park. His bid is $594. This and the other bids received by the park committee of the chamber of commerce have been forwarded to Mrs. India Hoover, of Marion, Ohio, who is to build the structure as a memorial to her husband, the late J. L. Hoover. She will approve the bids and send them here."

New Fall and Winter styles.
The four models are photographic reproductions taken from life—the way our clothes actually fit.

Are they not perfect? Can a high-priced tailor make more stylish or better fitting garments? We do not believe it is possible. We have dozens of new fall fashions—one more beautiful than the other—the clothes must really be seen to be appreciated. No one would think it possible for us to make such simply wonderful clothes for $22.50. They not only look like $50 clothes but they feel like it and they will wear fully as well as the best clothes made.

Please remember—every garment is strictly all-wool and fully guaranteed to satisfy you in all respects or we will cheerfully refund your money.

We make the clothes ourselves in our own Cleveland factory—we know how good they really are—they are sold direct from our factory to you. You save the middleman's big profits.

KIWANIS ARE ASKED TO AID IN LABOR SITUATION

By Dr. H. K. Mouser at Yesterday's Kiwanis Meeting.

Reports of the annual Ohio District Kiwanis convention at Lima, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday were given at the weekly noon luncheon of the Marion Kiwanis club Thursday noon at the Blue Bee cafeteria. H. T. Wiant and Dr. Ray Miller, delegates, and V. for T. E. Andrews, district trustee.

Dr. H. K. Mouser, representing a committee of the chamber of commerce, asked the support of the Kiwanis club in the committee's work of relieving the unemployment situation. Mr. Wiant reported that this matter was taken up at the district convention and a committee named to investigate unemployment in the state and cooperate with governmental agencies. He said two plans were proposed, one to establish a bureau and another to ask every business owner to put one more man at work.

At the close of the meeting Dr. James Wilson McMurray, president of the club, introduced Fred L. Schaffer and announced that it was Mr. Schaffer's fifty-second birthday.

STRIKE IS NOW A POSSIBILITY

Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen Favors Walkout.

OTHER ORGANIZATIONS ARE COUNTING VOTES

One Union Will Not Go Out Without Orders.

Conservative Observers Think Strike Will Be Ordered, but the Labor Situation Will Keep Men on the Job.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—If the 186,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, more than ninety per cent. of whom have voted to strike, are supported in their demands by the grievance committee a strike will be ordered.

With this parting declaration President W. G. Lee dispatched fifty-seven general chairmen of unions to their homes, last night, with written instructions to call their grievance committees, obtain their approval or disapproval of the strike vote and report back here next week.

That grievance committees will approve the strike was predicted at union headquarters.

Lee expects to act on the committee instructions before the Brotherhoods of Engineers, Conductors, Enginemen & Trainmen and the Switchmen's Union of North America have completed the count of their 259,000 strike ballots, which will start here Monday.

Decision Must Be Complete.

The strike call, however, he indicated, will provide for a walkout of the trainmen when and if other unions strike. A walkout of one union unsupported by the others will not be undertaken.

That the strike, even if ordered, never will actually take place, continued to be the prevailing impression in union circles today. While Lee has promised to call the walkout of the committees so direct, he bluntly told his men in a general letter, September 12, that he would be remiss in his duty if he failed to point out to them that wages and working conditions established since 1918 were the result of a World war, such as never before known; that government reports indicate 5,000,000 men out of work; that nearly all classes of labor have been forced to accept wage reductions; that the pay increases granted to them last year by the United States Labor board was based on the increased cost of living, and that government reports show a reduction of more than sixteen per cent. in such living costs.

The strike vote was taken on the question of accepting or rejecting the twelve per cent. wage cut, made July 1 by the labor board.

Majority Favors Walkout.

Tabulation of the vote had not been completed tonight, but ballots already counted showed from ninety to ninety-five per cent. of the men on every railroad system in the country voted to quit work rather than accept the pay reduction.

No system failed to return less than nine out of ten votes for the strike.

Lee's determination to announce his union's stand before the other brotherhoods complete their ballot count, shifts the entire responsibility for the next move in the threatened general strike to the four unions which took a joint vote — Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Order of Railway Conductors, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Enginemen and the Switchmen's Union of North America.

The affiliated shop crafts, by a vote of 325,000 to 48,000, already have gone on record in favor of a strike, but have postponed action pending the decision of other unions and action of the labor board on rules and working conditions, which questions are before it.

As the situation stands tonight if engineers, conductors, enginemen and switchmen walk out the trainmen and shopmen will join them, but the first four will have to assume responsibility for the move.

PEKING MAY MAKE COUNTER-PROPOSAL

May Present Proposition Regarding Shantung Question.

Tokyo, Sept 30—The Peking Chinese government may make a counter-proposal to Japan on the Shantung question.

It was learned here today that Chinese diplomatic envoys in Europe have cabled Peking urging consideration of the offer recently made by Japan to settle the question. These diplomatic advices are said to have pointed out that the Japanese offer resembles in many ways a plan favored by America and Great Britain to settle the matter and that the offer must be the basis of any negotiations which follow.

Popular opposition alone is understood to stand in the way of [illegible] with Japan.

CHINA TAKES SLAP AT YAP DEALINGS

Says German Rights To Land Cables Forfeited in War.

Tokio, Sept. 30.—The Chinese foreign office at Peking has informed both the United States and Japanese governments that as a result of the Chinese participation in the war against Germany, the rights granted Germany to land cables in China were cancelled and that the landing of the former German cables from Yap to Shanghai is illegal, no matter in whose possession it may be now.

The announcement is regarded here as a direct slap at the negotiations now in progress between the United States and Japan for a settlement of the Yap cable program. It is also regarded as possible that the Chinese note may mark the adoption of an aggressive action plan on the part of the Chinese government toward the Shantung question.

SEVEN CANDIDATES ARE ENTERED IN RACE

Each Wants To Be Mayor of the Forest City.

Cleveland, Sept. 30—Seven candidates were entered in the race for mayor of Cleveland when the entries closed at midnight last night. Of these, Mayor William S. Fitzgerald has the backing of the Republican organization and former County Clerk Edmund B. Haserodt, that of the Democrats.

Other candidates are John J. Boyle, former county treasurer, Democrat; Fred Kohler, former "golden rule" chief of police and present county commissioner, Republican; James R. Hinchcliffe, councilman, Republican; Charles H. Hubbell, Democrat and Fred Brown, whose political affiliations are not known.

NEGRO WORKERS GIVEN ORDER TODAY

To Organize and Affiliate with Six Shopcraft Unions.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 30.—Ten thousand negro employes in southern railway shop centers, including Atlanta, Birmingham, Dallas, Little Rock, Memphis, Nashville, New Orleans, Knoxville and Chattanooga, today were ordered to organize immediately and affiliate with the six shopcraft unions.

Organization of all negro rail employes in the South was said to be an emergency measure adopted by the American Federation of Labor as a preliminary toward mobilizing a 100-per-cent. union labor army in the nation-wide battle against wage reductions ordered into effect by the federal railway labor board.

TROOPS ORDERED OUT OF THE COAL REGIONS

Are To Return to Barracks from Whence They Came.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 30.—Orders were received at military headquarters here this afternoon for the return to Forth Thomas, Kentucky, and to the Columbus, Ohio, barracks of detachments of troops from those places, included in the forces brought into West Virginia several weeks ago to cope with disorders in the southern coal region of the state. They are to leave for their home stations October 3.

The two remaining army aeroplanes here were also ordered to return to Langley field.

About 500 troops will remain on duty in the coal region.

No Adjournment.

Washington, Sept. 30.—There will be no adjournment of congress on November 10 as currently reported Senator Penrose, Republican, Pennsylvania, declared today in discussing the tax-revision situation. He said that there would be no adjournment until "several important bills which are still pending are disposed of." He indicated he had the railroad-debt funding and foreign-loan funding bills in mind.

Blue Laws Wanted.

Massillon, Sept. 30.—Laymen attending the tenth annual northeast Ohio conference of the Methodist Episcopal church in session here today, condemned Sunday baseball and football. Sunday movies, dancing and present-day fashions for women. The discussion was closed without any action being taken. Enforcement of Ohio's blue laws to place a ban on Sunday athletics and movies was advocated by the laymen in their discussion.

Given Greeting.

Cherbourg, Sept. 30.—A tumultuous greeting that took on a semi-official character was given Douglas Fairbanks and his wife, Mary Pickford Fairbanks, upon their arrival here today on the liner, Olympic. The daughter of the mayor of Cherbourg presented Mrs Fairbanks with an enormous bouquet of flowers.

Heavy Storm Damage.

Steubenville, Sept. 30—Damage to the extent of $60,000 was done in the heart of Wellsburg, West Virginia, near here, this morning, when a cyclone struck the town with terrific force. Several roofs were blown off houses and many persons had narrow escapes from being killed or injured. Part of the roof of a school building was blown away.

UNSUCCESSFUL APPEAL FOR AID

Made by Dr. Nansen in Geneva Conference.

CAMPAIGN OF LIES IS INJURING RUSSIA

Declaration of Head of International Relief Work—Reason for Starving Children.

Geneva, Sept. 30.—Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, head of the international committee for the relief of famine-stricken Russia, made a final but unsuccessful appeal for aid to the league's failure to act with the benevolent assistance of the United States.

"A campaign of lies is not only preventing the league from acting, but is impeding the work of private charitable organizations," declared Dr. Nansen in a dramatic speech. "I know the source of these lies. The underlying motive is the fear that if the Russian children are saved the soviet government at Moscow will be strengthened."

The league of nations began maneuvering today to get Argentina back into the fold. Argentina withdrew last year on the ground that her proposals were not getting fair recognition.

The amendment committee, today, rejected a motion to kill the amendment proposed by the Argentine delegation, last year and recommended action upon the amendment be taken up later. The committee also adopted a resolution regretting the absence of Argentine from the present meeting.

Argentine has proposed all recognized states, including Germany, be admitted to the league of nations.

Bitter attacks were launched against the Russian soviet when the question of aiding Russian famine sufferers was brought up again.

M. Spalaikovitch, former Servian minister to Russia, expelled from that country by the Bolshevists, offered a resolution condemning the soviet government and holding it responsible for the famine.

BUYS MARION BUICK INTEREST AT BUCYRUS

O. H. Riley Now in Charge in Crawford County.

O. H. Riley, who has been the salesman of the Bucyrus Buick company, during the past two and a half years with other Bucyrus capital, has purchased the interest of the Marion Buick company, of Marion, and this popular car and company is now wholly a Bucyrus institution, the first time in a number of years, says Thursday's Bucyrus Telegraph. The old name, Bucyrus Buick company, will be retained, and the same efficient service will be given, and better if possible.

Mr. Riley, who will have charge of the business, has secured new quarters in one of the rooms of the modern Roberts & Kennedy garage, on west Rensselaer street, to which the agency will be moved next week and where all Buick owners are expected and requested by him to call for any service they can render.

The Bucyrus Buick company was formerly controlled by and largely owned by the Marion Buick company. Difficulties in the Marion company, with an application in court for a receivership, gave Bucyrus capital an especially good opportunity to take over the agency entirely, and this was accordingly done as soon as terms could be agreed upon.

C. G. Riley, also former salesman with the local agency, has gone to Lancaster to be affiliated with an auto agency.

YANKEES TIGHTEN HOLD ON LEAD

Giants Win National League Flag by Defeating Pirates.

New York, Sept 30—The National League pennant race was won by the New York Giants yesterday by virtue of the Pittsburgh Pirates' dropping two games to the St. Louis Cardinals.

The New York Yankees tightened their hold on the American league lead at Philadelphia by trimming the Philadelphia Athletics, 5 to 0. The Yankees took an early lead and Pechinpaugh sewed up the game in the seventh inning when he hit a home run into the bleachers, scoring a run ahead of him.

The Giants now are four and one half games in the lead in the National loop. They have four games to play, while Pittsburgh has three. If the Giants were to lose all four and Pittsburgh win all three, the Giants still would be a game ahead.

The New York Americans virtually are certain to be the Giants' opponents in the world series. By winning yesterday while Cleveland was losing, the Yankees now can lose only by dropping three straight games while the Indians are winning three.

New York has two more games to play with Philadelphia and one with Boston, while Cleveland has three more with Chicago.

SHERIFF IS MADE DEFENDANT IN SUIT

Traveling Salesman Says He Is Beaten by Officer.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 30.—Don. Chafin, who, as sheriff of Logan county, held up the recent armed march of miners to Mingo county at the Logan county boundary until federal troops arrived, today was made defendant in a $5,000 damage suit filed in federal court by A. Brill Aberill Bays, of Carlisle, Kentucky. The plaintiff, who gives his occupation as that of a traveling salesman, claims that August 18, last, while in Logan county, he was attacked by Sheriff Chafin and some of his deputies and was so badly beaten that he required medical attention. He was warned, also, he alleges, that if he was found in Logan county again he would be killed.

Property Damaged.

Marietta, Sept. 30—Heavy property damage throughout southeastern Ohio and western West Virginia was caused by a severe wind and rain storm, early today. Telegraph and telephone communication between Marietta, Parkersburg and other Ohio valley towns was badly hampered. Hundreds of telephone poles are down. The storm lasted a bare half hour. Details of damage are unavailable.

Stock Market.

New York, Sept. 30—The stock market continued to display improvement at the opening today. Price movements were small, however and the advances made were confined to fractions.

IMPERIAL WIZARD SENDS TELEGRAMS

Urging Every Congressman To Vote for Ku Klux Probe.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 30—Colonel William J. Simmons, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, announced at the Imperial palace here today, that he had sent telegrams to every member of congress that the Tague resolution providing for investigation of the Klan be adopted. These telegrams followed messages sent Wednesday to President Harding, Harding and Attorney General Daugherty asking that they start an investigation.

Colonel Simmons in the statement today, mentioned the resolution offered by Congressman T. J. Ryan, of New York, providing for an investigation to determine if the Klan paid income tax, but did not comment on it.

ARCH MURDERER IS HANGED TODAY

Carl Wanderer Pays Death Penalty for Triple Murder.

Chicago, Sept 30—Carl O. Wanderer, arch murderer, was hanged here today with a song on his lips.

Wanderer, slayer of his wife, unborn child and ragged stranger during a fake holdup, paid in full for the murder of the "poor boob." He went to his death singing a song in a harsh tremulous voice, to the woman whose life he snuffed out more than a year ago. His song trailed off into silence as the "death cap" was dropped over his head.

WARM GREETING FOR ARBUCKLE

Film Stars Turn Out To Greet Him in Los Angeles.

MRS. ARBUCKLE WITH HUSBAND

Crowd Cheers and Calls for Alleged Slayer of Late Virginia Rappe.

Los Angeles, Sept. 30—Cheered by a miscellaneous crowd of some 500 friends and admirers, ranging from persons prominent as film stars, to the most humble "hangers-on" of a railway district, Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, held for eighteen days in San Francisco following the death of Virginia Rappe, cinema actress, arrived here today.

Before the train came to a full stop, a large group of motion-picture folks had rushed up to the side of the car and began cheering and calling for the fun-maker who is coming home to rest following his release on $5,000 bail after a murder charge was reduced to manslaughter.

With her face pressed close to the window of one of the cars, Mrs. Minta Durfee Arbuckle, the film comedian's wife, to whom he became reconciled in San Francisco after five years separation, waved to the [illegible] Durfee, Arbuckle's mother-in-law, was also peering out of the Pullman window and smiling contentedly.

Mrs. Arbuckle appeared first on the small rear platform of the car and was immediately surrounded by a group of motion-picture women who embraced her and drew her off to themselves. And then came Arbuckle, close behind them.

There was a loud cheer. Arbuckle, with a smile, said just two words of grateful recognition of his reception. These were "Hello, folks."

ATTEMPT TO BURN LIBRARY AT DAYTON

Dayton, Sept. 30.—An attempt to destroy the Dayton public library by fire was averted shortly after 3 o'clock this morning. The janitor found the building full of smoke and in the basement two boxes of refuse and records were burning fiercely. The flames melted a lead water pipe just above and the water thus released foiled the attempt of the firebugs. An investigation showed that the two boxes of material had been soaked with kerosene, police say.

Experiment a Success

Baltimore, Sept. 30—A bomb weighing 4,300 pounds, the largest ever made and loaded with 1,812 pounds of tnt, was dropped from an army aeroplane flying over 2,000 feet in the air, on a concrete area at the Aberdeen proving grounds today.
